The spot

We have chosen a place where it would be necessary to cool an office building and where we can demonstrate how intelligent and autochthonous planning can counteract extreme weather conditions. Mumbai in India. Mumbai has a number of economically up-and-coming districts where space needs to be created for businesses and offices. At Marina-Drive is one such district. This is where the high-rise is to be built on an 80x80 meter footprint. Mumbai has a continuously hot climate.
